

PLANNING:

The difference between "doing it right" and "doing it again."

Beyond
THE BOX

So you're ready to make the leap into server virtualization. It's time to cut costs, reduce energy consumption and enjoy all the other benefits afforded by the technology. It's a smart move and we applaud you. Our main advice? Plan everything through in detail.

A poorly planned move to virtualization can lead to a number of management issues. But here's the rub — if you're not yet familiar with the nuances of the technology, it's hard to properly plan. CDW can help. Using the latest technology and knowledge, we can make sure you always maintain a well-managed environment. Never forget — a little planning goes a long way.
